

SPECIFIC, PREVAILING PRAYER TO END THE BRAND OF MODERN DAY SLAVERY CALLED TROKOSI

- Pray that it will end or that remaining shrines will be willing to liberate.
- Pray that the efforts of the Afrikania Mission to stop liberation will be null and void. Pray that every attempt to stop liberation will have the opposite effect in the name of Jesus.
- Pray that every curse anyone casts on those working for liberation will be returned undelivered on the head of the sender—not out of hatred or a desire to harm anyone, but so that those sending curses may know that they are dealing with the power of the Almighty.
- Pray for the miraculous salvation of shrine priests and owners, shrine elders, and the leaders of the Afrikania Mission who are working to maintain the practice.
- Pray against the spirit of idolatry, the spirit of slavery, the spirit of bondage, the Moloch spirit of child sacrifice. Pray they would no longer be able to operate in this region.
- Pray that spiritual lines of communication would be cut off so that shrine priests would no longer be able to consult their idol gods.
- Pray that Christians would have a greater understanding of how abhorrent idolatry is to God and how destructive it is to us.
- Pray that Christians would no longer frequent idol shrines.
- Pray that national and local leaders would be moved to call on the Almighty rather than idols.
- Pray that families would begin to give a firm ‘NO’ when the shrine priest tells them that some alleged offense demands the sacrifice of a virgin daughter.
- Pray that those already liberated would understand the Gospel and come to faith in Christ.
- Pray that those who have received Christ may stand firm and may become affiliated with Bible-teaching churches.
- Pray that churches may welcome former shrine slaves who try to visit or to affiliate with them.
- Pray that Christians may not fear former shrine slaves, but may reach out to them with love and an accepting heart.
- Pray that former shrine slaves may be unusually successful in business.
- Pray that former shrine slaves may find good Christian husbands and that their husbands may fully accept them and not resort to fear and accusation even in hard times.
- Pray for the physical and emotional health of former shrine slaves.
- Pray against all attempts to poison former shrine slaves. Pray that such attempts may be of no effect, and that anyone attempting such a thing may be exposed.
- Pray that Christians would increasingly speak up against shrine slavery at every available opportunity and through every available means.
- Pray that the communities surrounding shrines that still practice trokosi slavery may speak up, expose and denounce the practice.
- Pray for the liberation of shrine slaves in Togo and Benin where none have as yet been freed.
- Pray that God may direct agencies seeking to liberate slaves to effective methods of liberating and of rehabilitating.
- Pray that anyone who seeks to use this tragic situation for personal gain may be exposed and brought to public shame.
- Pray for the truth may become so manifest that shrine leaders will no longer be able to hide or deny the existence of trokosi in their shrines.
- Pray that former trokosi would find their voices and speak up loudly against the practice. Ask God to set an extra hedge of protection about them as they speak the truth.
- Pray for former trokosi struggling to forgive those who hurt them. May they be able to forgive and find peace of heart.
- Pray for those trying to spread misinformation and define terms in a manner that would minimize the severity of the problem. Pray that every effort at misinformation will instead bring the truth to light.

- Pray for those for whom the physical scars they received as shrine slaves are a source of ridicule and ostracism. Let them learn to accept those marks and use them as proof that God can save even shrine slaves. May those marks that were intended for shame rather be used to promote the Gospel.
- Pray that God may give wisdom, strength and health to those seeking to counsel and teach former shrine slaves.
- Pray that financial resources equal to the project needs may be released to those who need it for the work of this ministry.
- Pray that those receiving funds for this work may remain faithful in the utilization of those funds and in their reporting practices for the glory of God.
- Pray by name for every organization you know of that is seeking to liberate shrine slaves or helping them afterwards. Pray also for churches that are trying to help and those that are welcoming former slaves. Pray God's protection and a special blessing on them.
- Pray by name for every person you know of who is seeking to liberate shrine slaves or helping them afterwards. Pray God's protection and a special blessing on them. Pray for any specific needs you know they have.
- Pray especially for the leaders who are strategizing and organizing the campaign to end trokosi slavery. Pray that they may not be touched by the enemy. Pray they will be faithful in their personal and public lives. Pray they will be guided by God. Pray a hedge of protection around them.
- Pray specifically by name for any shrine slaves you may meet at the market or elsewhere. Pray for their liberation and for their salvation.
- Pray specifically by name for former shrine slaves you know who have been liberated. Pray they will be fully restored to a productive life in Christ.
